Background of the Conference

One Day International Conference will be conducted on the theme:

“Cooperative Management and Analysing the New Dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)”. Cooperative management is a management style that emphasizes collaboration, shared responsibility, and participatory democracy within organizations, within entities, particularly those owned and controlled by their members, as Cooperatives, Self-Help Groups. SDGs are adopted by all United Nations Member States in 2015, that are a universal call to action to end poverty, protect the planet, and ensure peace and prosperity for all by 2030. Comprising 17 interconnected goals, the SDGs address global challenges such as climate change, inequality, economic development, environmental degradation, and access to education and healthcare. They emphasize a holistic approach recognizing that economic growth, social inclusion, and environmental sustainability are interdependent. Governments, businesses, civil society, and individuals are encouraged to collaborate and innovate to achieve these goals. The SDGs provide a shared blueprint for creating a more equitable and sustainable future, leaving no one behind. By fostering partnerships and prioritizing long-term solutions, the SDGs aim to transform our world for the better, ensuring a balance between human progress and the health of the planet.

In this backdrop the One Day International Conference on “Cooperative Management for Sustainable Growth: Analysing New Dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals” attempts to discuss and deliberate different dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals by engaging academicians, researchers and industrial experts across the country.
